Burford Hall is the oldest residence hall in use on the ISU campus. The building's interior spaces and building façade were completely remodeled. The renovation included adding meeting rooms and a small performance area, in addition to the private baths in the new double occupancy student rooms. This drastic reconfiguration required the design and installation of new mechanical, electrical, plumbing and fire suppression systems throughout the entire building. The building houses 215 freshmen in private rooms. The building, both inside and out, was transformed from a very dated mid-1960's, marginally useable structure to the modern, efficient, welcoming facility you see here.
